Recruiting Volunteers for a Research Study

Do You Have a Symptom That Impacts Your Quality of Life?

If so, you may be eligible to take part in a study to manage your symptom.

What is this research study about?

Serious illness can cause symptoms that reduce a person’s quality of life. Researchers at Thomas Jefferson University want to find out if medical marijuana is helpful in reducing those symptoms and has an effect on your quality of life.

What is involved?

- At four different time points over 1 year (initial, 3 months, 6 months, 12 months), you will be asked to:
  - Fill out questionnaire related to your symptoms and your feelings about how medical marijuana has made a difference in managing your symptoms
  - Each set of questions will take approximately less than 10 minutes to complete
- You will receive payment for each questionnaire completed

Who can participate? You may be eligible to take part if you:

- are 18 years or older
- are enrolled in the Pennsylvania Medical Marijuana Program
- agree to use marijuana obtained through a Pennsylvania dispensary

Where will the study take place? At medical marijuana dispensary or phone call

Interested? Please call 215-955-5505 or email MMJstudy@Jefferson.edu for more info

Jefferson
Thomas Jefferson University
The principal researcher for this study is
Dr. Brooke Worster at Thomas Jefferson University
IRB# 17C.478
Recruiting Volunteers for a Research Study

Do You Have a Symptom That Impacts Your Quality of Life?

If so, you may be eligible to take part in a study to manage your symptom.

What is this research study about?
Serious illness can cause symptoms that reduce a person’s quality of life. Researchers at Thomas Jefferson University want to find out if medical marijuana is helpful in reducing those symptoms and has an effect on your quality of life.

What is involved?
* At four different time points over 1 year (initial, 3 months, 6 months, 12 months), you will be asked to:
  ◦ Fill out questionnaire related to your symptoms and your feelings about how medical marijuana has made a difference in managing your symptoms
  ◦ Each set of questions will take approximately less than 10 minutes to complete
* You will receive payment for each questionnaire completed

Who can participate? You may be eligible to take part if you:
  * are 18 years or older
  * are enrolled in the Pennsylvania Medical Marijuana Program
  * agree to use marijuana obtained through a Pennsylvania dispensary

Where will the study take place? At medical marijuana dispensary or phone call

Interested? Please call 215-955-5505 or email MMJstudy@Jefferson.edu for more info

Jefferson
Thomas Jefferson University
HOME OF MUDGE ENAMMEL MEDICAL COLLEGE

The principal researcher for this study is Dr. Brooke Worster at Thomas Jefferson University.
IRB# 17C.478